

MASSACRE OF PRISONERS OF WAR IS CONTINUED

Rumored That the Resignation of Huerta May Come Thursday

Mexican Rupture Is Inevitable Is Opinion At City of Mexico

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.—The early severing of relations between the United States and Mexico is regarded here as inevitable. Huerta is proceeding with efforts to organize a new congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The president does not regard the Mexican situation as having reached a stage requiring the closing of the American embassy. He said Charge O'Shaughnessy had neither been given his passports or told to come home. Summing up the status of the situation, the president indicated that the personal attitude of Huerta might be changed. The circumstances on which the American government bases its conviction that Huerta's elimination is inevitable is unchanged.

Secretary Bryan has ordered an investigation of the Juarez executions, but thus far he has been unable to reconcile conflicting reports.

PRESIDENT ZADIG PREDICTS THAT STAR WILL COME BACK TO PROFIT MAKING WITH GOOD ORE BODIES MAKING

That the North Star will resume the earning of $20,000 a month before long was the optimistic prediction of Hermann Zadig, president of the North Star Tunnel and Development company, expressed after he passed yesterday underground.

"The North Star is in good shape," he remarked last night to the Bonanza. "In the next week or ten days I look for the stock to become quite active again with an advance unless all signs fail. By Monday next we will be drifting on ore above the 950 on the Martha vein, where we have 18 inches of very rich ore, some of it going a shill as $200 a ton, but it is impossible to tell the extent of the find, as we don't know the length. Since it faulted on the line of the Montana we picked it up and it has grown stronger every day. We also expect to get ore in the west drift from the Wilza. We have some values, but we are not in far enough west to be under good ore, but are getting assays. Any blast may tell us that we are in the ore body. We are also taking out good ore from the 1070. We are going to develop the mine and not cut it, as had been done, and as soon as we open up the two levels we will start on the east drift, which will give us a large area of ground to explore and one that should furnish a good, strong line of backs. When this is done we will continue sinking the winze, or perhaps we will decide to go down and raise from the 1250."

"How did the ore come to be thrown on the dump?"

"That's something I would like to find out, as we did not suspect anything wrong in that department under the old management; but it was Mr. Chandler's policy to sample the dump, anyway, as a matter of precaution and to acquaint himself with the conditions of the mine. His determination was hastened by the application of two men who importuned him at different times for a lease on the dump. No, they were not former employees, although they may have represented them. They insisted on getting a lease with such force that Mr. Chandler thought he would see if there was any special reason for their anxiety. The result was that he found a bunch of good ore, of which some runs as high as $200 a ton, and immediately proceeded to save it. We are still sorting from the dump and have picked up about 50 tons that will average $40 a ton. None of this has figured in the shipments."

"Did Heney ever offer any explanation of his course of conduct?"

"When I was here on the 10th of September Heney told me he owned a block of North Star stock that he would not sell for less than $2.50 a share and I asked him last week if he had that stock. He replied that he had not. When I asked when he sold he flatly refused to answer. Then I said: 'Heney, I'll give you a chance to square yourself. How did it happen that you were deceived, and deceived me and others, by shipping ore that you should have known would not pay the cost of shipping? How was it that the North Star was sending out ore that ran only $11 a ton when you reported that you were shipping $30 ore?' He put it up to McQuillan, saying it was none of his business to send reports to the main office."

"Well, how did it happen that you could make mistakes daily for a period of 10 days in sampling cars and not discover the mistake until we got the returns from the smelter?"

He excused himself by saying he might have been imposed on by salted samples furnished by his men. I want to say right here that I never had any use for Heney, and positively refused to have him work for us in any capacity where he would have anything to do with the funds. Laid wanted him, and said, with McQuillan handling the books and the money, there would be no danger. That's how he got the job. The man was personally obnoxious and I could not tolerate him around me."

"What is the outlook on the Rescue Fund?"

"Work has started from the 800 level to drive west in hope of picking up the Valley View vein which was lost in the Mipah fault and never recovered. Stringers are coming in and I would not be surprised if we found what we are going after. Last week we made 43 feet with two shifts. I am going to Goldfield, where we have something better than a prospect in the Silver Pick, as we have picked up a vein at the 450 level and are going down through to develop values. We are now cutting a station and will soon be ready to drift. On the Umatilla of Tonopah we will begin cross-cutting about the end of the year to the north, where it looks as if there might be something important."

ESPEE STRIKE PASSES UP TO ARBITRATION

COMPANY WILL CONFER WITH A COMMITTEE FROM THE UNIONS.

(By Associated Press.)

HOUSTON, Nov. 17.—The strike of operating employees of the Southern Pacific in Texas and Louisiana ended today when the company yielded to the demands to meet a federated committee of the four unions involved. Within 30 minutes after the announcement wheels began turning.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Termination of the railroad strike is a result of the acceptance by both parties of the proposal of the federated board of mediation and conciliation and that company to meet a federated committee, sent from here last night, with the stipulation that if either refused, the question would go before the federated board to attempt a settlement.

The president is much interested because of the position the transportation lines occupy with relation to any movement of the border patrol to enforce neutrality.

According to one delegate, $100,000,000 invested in factories will be forced to find new employment within a year. The factories in Nevada and California are among the number.

WOODEN CHECK ARTIST FROM SAN BERNARDINO

Sheriff Malley arrived home this morning from San Bernardino, accompanied by J. E. Stull, who is wanted in Goldfield for uttering worthless checks. He is under a suspended sentence from Judge Averill for a term of from four to five years for the same offense, committed in Tonopah, and will probably take a short cut to Carson City. Before his arrest in San Bernardino Stull passed a check for $60 and secured the money. He has a chain of similar offenses all the way from Modoc county, California, to the southern border line.

BIG HOUSE FROM GOLDFIELD FOR BOB POHL'S FAMILY

FIVE-ROOM RESIDENCE, RUSTIC FINISHED, DELIVERED HERE TODAY.

Bob Pohl, county clerk, is in possession of a fine new house imported from Goldfield at an expense that shows how much he thinks of the architectural skill of the neighboring town. The house arrived this afternoon in tow of a string of twelve animals, and tacked and warped around the corners with a dexterity that amazed those who were not familiar with what a clever desert driver can do with only a jerk line to help him marshal his motive power.

The house contains five rooms and is in excellent state of preservation. The sides are rustic finished and the interior is in hardwood. The house will be set on a pair of lots on Prospect avenue, near the present residence of the Pohls, and will be ready for occupancy in the course of a couple of weeks. The building stood the journey well, in spite of its great size. This is the best looking house of all the assortment of homes that has been hauled over from Goldfield.

PRESIDENT WILL URGE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

SUFFRAGISTS ARE KINDLY RE- CEIVED AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Sixty-five suffragists from New Jersey visited the executive offices of the white house today, although there was no previous engagement, and were promptly received by the president.

"We came to ask you to make suffrage a national question," said Mrs. E. Feyerherdt, head of the delegation. "We would like you to include in your annual message support for the constitutional amendment pending to grant women a vote; also, we would like you to use your efforts to have the committee on rules of the house appoint a woman suffrage committee to push consideration of this amendment pending in the senate."

"I was just talking the other day," returned the president, "with some gentlemen of the house about the appointment of such a committee. We have the matter under consideration."

"I thank you," chorused the women.

PASSES SEVERAL FICTITIOUS CHECKS

County officers and the state police are looking for one J. C. Martin, a suave looking and well dressed young man, who has been passing bogus checks in Carson and other parts of western Nevada. Martin arrived here about ten days ago, stopping at the Exchange hotel. Before he left there he cashed a check on Tom Heldenreich for $50.

When the state police took up the case it was quickly ascertained that Martin had a career, that he had been connected with several forgery cases and had served time in the California prisons. His description has been sent all over the country and it is believed that he will soon be apprehended.—Carson City Appeal.

Pearson Syndicate Finances the Revolution As Shown By New Railroad Concession

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 17.—Eleven have been executed at Juarez since the constitutionalists captured that town, according to a rebel official. Americans there say 23 were executed. A majority of those were known to be federal army officers.

Rebels are continuing to establish civil government. They gave permission to the Mexican North-western railroad, owned by the Pearson syndicate, to rebuild to its timber tracts.

General Villa says the rest of his army will arrive soon from Chihuahua City to replenish ammunition. Americans fear trouble if the entire 7000 undisciplined men are mobilized on the border.

It is said that the order directed that no federal below the grade of captain be executed.

NEW MEXICO IS GOING STRONG WITH RED METAL

GREAT INCREASE IN COPPER PRODUCTION OF LAST YEAR IN NEW MEXICO.

Until 1912 New Mexico was one of the two states in the Rocky mountain region, Wyoming being the other, which lay more claim to recognition as mining states by reason of their production of coal than by their output of precious and semiprecious metals. In 1912, however, owing to a marked increase in production, the value of the recoverable copper content of the ores mined in New Mexico exceeded the value of the coal mined. The increase in the copper production was due principally to the operations of one company mining with steam shovels a large acreage of low-grade deposits at Santa Rita. In 1911 the recoverable copper content of the ores mined in New Mexico was 4,057,040 pounds, valued at $507,130; in 1912 this product amounted to 34,030,964 pounds, valued at $5,615,109, the quantity in 1912 being approximately 8 1/2 times and the value more than 11 times that of 1911. The coal production increased from 3,148,158 short tons, valued at $4,525,925, to 3,536,824 short tons, valued at $5,037,051.

The Raton district produces a coking coal of good grade and extensive coking operations are carried on at Dawson, Gardner and Koehler. The other commercial mineral products of the state are gold, lead, silver, zinc, stone, clay products, fluorspar, gypsum, iron ore, lime, mica, mineral waters, salt, sand and gravel, gems, and vanadium minerals. The total value of the mineral products of New Mexico increased from $8,176,329 in 1911 to $14,391,355 in 1912.

HUNTERS RETURN FROM LONG TRIP WITH FULL BAGS

DELAYED BY BAD ROADS AND SNOW, BUT GET PLENTY OF GAME.

Ed Powers and F. F. Smith returned yesterday from a hunting trip in Pahrangat valley, after an exciting experience in that distant end of the state. Both men fared well, although they experienced considerable discomfort from exposure, as they were compelled to spend a good deal of time without any more shelter than their blankets. The mercury was low and there was from two to three inches of snow on their bedding when they awoke one morning last week in the Cactus range. There was no shortage of food or provisions as they had plenty of mountain quail and ducks, but they would have preferred a less monotonous diet than quail three times a day interlarded with flapjacks.

Mr. Smith said the cause of their delay in returning was bad roads, which necessitated careful driving to avoid rocks and boulders strewn over the country, but the trip proved highly enjoyable and neither man suffered seriously from the hardships. After getting down to the Kawich country they found the snow so deep that they deemed it advisable to turn back to Pahrangat valley and come home by way of Cherry Creek and Willow Creek. They carried a big load of game, which was distributed to their friends yesterday. The quail are better than the valley birds, as they are larger, of firmer flesh and have a fine plumage. They also had a good showing of Mallard and canvasback ducks.

PITTMAN EXCUSED FROM WEIR JURY

CHALLENGED FOR CAUSE AND RAY PIERCY CALLED IN HIS PLACE.

Vall Pittman was excused from serving on the Weir jury by a challenge for cause by the state this morning and Ray Piercy was substituted. Pittman had been under examination since Saturday afternoon and as both sides had exhausted their peremptories the only way left to prevent acceptance of a juror was for cause.

Both sides are ready and the case will be opened tomorrow morning and the hearing will be shorter than generally supposed.
